license liquor law.

Senator Delong's attempt to get the state's attorney to file up to Senator Delong was squelched by the House promptly.

The tuberculosis commission has not outlined its usefulness apparently. It is through the legislature and is up to the chief executive.

"Consume the weather, anyway." Mr. Ricker of Groton can't find sunshine enough to have a picture of the old veterans of the House taken.

Senator Howland's anti-spit—excuse us—anti-expectorating law, passed the House yesterday afternoon and now lacks only the governor's signature to become effective.

Fish and sawdust had a fight in the House yesterday afternoon and sawdust won in the 434 round. The scheme was to prevent the depositing of sawdust and shavings in streams, on the ground that fish are killed off thereby.

Some of the members of the House fairly shouted "No" when the bill to incorporate the Burlington Brewery company came up for third reading. It was like waving a red flag in front of a bull to say "Brewery" to this virtuous assembly.

The weekly payment bill came up in the Senate yesterday afternoon, and on motion of Senator Howland it was amended to take effect June 1, 1907. On motion of Senator Daley the bill was ordered to lie until the afternoon of December 5, at 2:30.

The Senate yesterday confirmed the nominations sent in by Gov. Proctor as follows: Rollin M. Felton of Richmond to be supervisor of the insane. Fred P. Kidder of Woodstock to be a member of the state board of health, and George H. Perkins of Burlington to be the state geologist and senator of the state cabinet. Drs. Two Washington county senators, Moody and Mussey, found themselves on opposite sides of a controversy in the Senate yesterday afternoon, the bill being the measure to compel towns to erect railroads in dangerous places by the road. Senator Moody opposed the bill as tending to an old law which gave the towns so much trouble. Senator Moody pointed out that there is a greater need of railroads today, because of automobiles. On a yea and nay vote the bill was killed, 11 to 17.

The case of J. H. Brown of Brattleboro, who was arrested Wednesday by Chief of Police F. H. Ketchum, was to be held before Justice Boyden last evening. He is charged with forging the names of Frank Bacheller and L. L. Dickerman to a guarantee, not to exceed $25, that the signers would make good to C. S. Page of Hyde Park if the agent named therein did not ship hides, tallow, etc., according to the amount of money forwarded by Mr. Page. Brown is an honest, hard working boy, barely 18 years old, and says he had no idea of committing any crime and thought that the names wanted on the paper were simply for character references.

In consideration of the request of Harry C. Shurtliff that a certified execution be made in the Collins McKinstry case, Judge Powers announced yesterday afternoon that such was granted and that judgment be made on the verdict. J. P. Lanson, attorney for the defendant, filed exceptions.

The grand jurors were all in their seats when court came in and the entire panel answered to the roll call. They were charged briefly by Judge Powers and then retired to investigate the Corlies murder case from Payson. C. C. Fitts, attorney general, and Benjamin Gates, state's attorney, appeared for the state.

The second death to occur as a result of the diphtheria scare in Montpelier was reported yesterday in the death of the four-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Letti of Sibley avenue. ## MEET FOR BETTER ACQUAINTANCE

Graduates and Former Students of U. V.
M. Held Banquet at Montpelier.

Montpelier, Nov. 23.—Graduates and former students of the university of Vermont to the number of thirty gathered in the Montpelier House dining room last night for an informal banquet. The number included state officials, members of the legislature and residents of Montpelier, Barre, Burlington and other places. The idea of the banquet was to enable the sons of the institution to become better acquainted and to quicken the flame of loyalty to their alma mater.

Following the serving of an appetizing menu, ex-Congressman H. H. Powers responded for order and after stating the purpose of the gathering called upon various persons to respond. The Rev. E. C. Bass, financial agent of the college, told of the progress of his efforts toward securing an endowment fund, the amounts now pledged being approximately $350,000. Ex-Lieutenant Governor N. W. Fiske of Lake Placid, who is chairman of the trustees of the institution, Representative Roger Hurlburt of Hyde Park and Judge H. S. Peck of Burlington were introduced as of the timber of which judges are made. Prof. George H. Perkins, also state geologist, brought the greetings of the college. After his speech Representative S. Hollister Jackson of Barre City, who is chairman of the House committee on railroads, was good-naturedly bantered by Congressman Powers as responding with the most sane words he had uttered in four weeks. (The toastmaster represents the interests of the Rutland railroad.)

Max Powell of Burlington was surprised to be called on, but responded with a neat little speech, telling of his pleasure at being present. Harry C. Shurtliff of Montpelier, who was largely instrumental in arranging the banquet, was asked to tell about it, while Representative Kidder of Woodstock, also one of the investigators, did not escape the eye of the toastmaster. The post-prandial exercises closed with a fine response from Speaker T. C. Cheney of the House of Representatives.

It is the intention to hold a similar function at least once in two years and possibly oftener.

First Basket Ball Game of Season Proves
Decidedly Interesting—Crescents
Do Good Work.

At the gymnasium last evening the Crescents put up an excellent game of basket ball against the strong Co. D team from St. Johnsbury. The latter team won the contest by only one point and that one awarded on a foul.

The Co. D team showed greater ability in passing and dribbling the ball and in covering their opponents. The Crescents made a greater percentage of goals from the number of their attempts, but showed lack of practice in covering their men and passing the ball. Mullins was easily the star of the local team and Miller made a majority of the goals for Co. D. A good crowd witnessed the game, every available seat in the gymnasium being occupied. The final score was 25 to 24 in favor of Co. D.
